

@taliadoux Startup Outreach & Growth Guide

Introduction

This guide provides practical steps for early-stage founders and students to land internships, connect with mentors, and grow their startups. It includes step-by-step tutorials, cold email templates, and instructions for using tools like Apollo.io, RocketReach, and LinkedIn effectively.

Using Apollo.io for Outreach

Apollo.io is a powerful tool for building lead lists of potential investors, mentors, or customers. Here's how to use it:

1. Sign up for a free account at <https://apollo.io>.
2. Use the search filters to find your target audience (e.g., investors, analysts, founders).
3. Save the contacts you find into a list inside Apollo.
4. Export the list as a CSV file by selecting your list and clicking 'Export.'
5. Open the CSV in Excel/Google Sheets. You'll see Name, Role, Company, Email, and LinkedIn URL.

Pro tip: Keep your lists organized by audience type (e.g., investors vs. early customers).

Startup Hacks & Playbooks

How to Land Internships Without Job Boards

1. Go on LinkedIn → search for the role you want + filter by 'People.'
 2. Find employees at the company you want → usually analysts, associates, or interns.
 3. Use RocketReach (free trial) to find their work email.
 4. Send a short cold email using the template above.
 5. Follow up after 3–5 days if no response.
- One thoughtful cold email a day = more opportunities than 100 applications.

Startup Outreach Playbook

1. Use Apollo.io to build a lead list (investors, mentors, or potential customers).
 2. Export the list into a spreadsheet (CSV format).
 3. Write one 4-line cold email (Intro → Compliment/Insight → Ask → Thank You).
 4. Send with GMass or Apollo's free email tool.
 5. Track opens and replies → double down on what works.
- Outreach is a numbers game with personalization.

The $100 Growth Hack

1. Spend $50 on Reddit ads → hyper-target niche communities.
 2. Spend $30 on Twitter ads → promote a thread about your product.
 3. Use $20 for a micro-influencer shoutout on TikTok/IG.
 4. DM everyone who likes/comments → invite them to try beta.
 5. Ask for feedback → turn best feedback into testimonials.
- Your first 100 users should feel hand-picked.
